F. D. R., Jr. To Speak At Development Day Ceremonies at Irvine

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., chairman of the President's Appalachian Regional Commission, will be the principal speaker at Eastern Kentucky Development Day ceremonies on May 20 at Irvine, the Estill County seat.

The special day for noting Eastern Kentucky's improvement efforts was set aside in a proclamation issued by Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

The proclamation said in part: "The process of development in Eastern Kentucky today involves unprecedented numbers of citizens, groups and agencies working so expertly and in such a cooperative manner that Eastern Kentucky's programs have been cited as outstanding and as examples for the practice of others."

Other speakers on the Development Day program will include Governor Breathitt and former Governor Bert Combs. Combs will introduce Roosevelt. Eastern Kentucky leaders will be recognized for their economic improvement work in the area.

Several members of Congress are expected to be on the platform at the Estill County Fairgrounds, along with Irvine and Estill County officials and chairmen of each area council in the Kentucky portion of the Appalachian Region.

Later in the day, Roosevelt and John D. Whisman, executive secretary of the Appalachian Regional Commission, will brief area council executive committees on the current status of the Appalachian Regional Program, which originated in Eastern Kentucky. Whisman is also administrator of the Kentucky Area Program Office.

Whisman, in announcing the briefing session, said that "The area councils are to be congratulated for the important part they have played in making this program possible and its future success predictable."

He pointed out that the "blueprint for the Appalachian program was drawn originally by the Eastern Kentucky Regional Development Commission, which provided for creation of the area councils as local action units."

The legislation now pending in Congress, Whisman said, "provides for official establishment of the area councils as the local action groups for projects."

In addition to the speaking program, a full day of activities is planned at the Irvine observance.

A R A Approves $9,000 Study Grant

The Area Redevelopment Administration in Washington has approved a $9,000 study grant to determine if proposed tourist complexes at Hazard and Burnside are feasible.

The grant will be used to make a market survey of two projects, Representative Carl Perkins announced.

The Hazard project, known as "Magic Mountain", was conceived as a $15-million undertaking involving construction of elaborate tourist and recreational facilities on a mountain-top within the community.

The Burnside project involves the construction of a Gay-90's village near Lake Burnside.

Somerset and Burnside businessmen have requested a $3.5 million A.R.A. loan to finance their project. No loan application has been submitted yet by businessmen promoting the Hazard project.

Order Of U. C. T. A. To Meet In Hazard

The Order of United Commercial Travelers of America Hazard Council No. 702 will hold their monthly meeting on the second floor of the Masonic Building Thursday, May 21 7:30 p. m., at their new office which they have rented.

County To Advertise For Second Bidding On New Courthouse

Perry Fiscal Court will convene some time this week to re-advertise for bids on the construction of the new courthouse, County Judge Babe C. Noplis said this morning.

This decision on the next step to take to clear up Perry County's confused courthouse issue was made as a result of a conference Friday with officials of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Atlanta, Georgia by Judge Noplis and County Attorney Calvin Manis.

The personal conference with the Agency officials became necessary after the construction firm whose low courthouse bid was accepted by the Fiscal Court withdrew its offer, alleging that its bid was $100,000 too low, due to an error.

The W. D. Johnson Company of Ashland, Kentucky bid $722,500 at a public bid-opening here April 30.

But the next day Johnson sent a letter to the Fiscal Court that said, in part:

"Since my mistaken bid of $722,500 has not been accepted, I hereby withdraw and rescind this bid. My bid should be in the sum of $822,500."

The Fiscal Court, however, went on record as approving and accepting Johnson's bid in spite of the letter of withdrawal.

The twenty four hour delay from the time the bids were opened until the Court accepted Johnson's low offer resulted from the recommendation of a federal official on hand to supervise the openings, who said Johnson should be given time to check his figures for an error.

If new bids are called for this week, then the second opening would likely occur in 30 days, or about June 22.

V. F. W. To Install Officers Saturday

The Oliver Hazard Perry Post 7387, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will install their new officers on Saturday, May 23, at 7:00 p. m., at the post club room.

The ladies are invited and a meal will be served before the installation.

Commander Devaughn Bolen will be the installing officer and the new officers will take over their positions in July.

The incoming Commander, Carl H. Rogers, urges all members to attend and take part in this event.

TODAY'S DESTINY

A man works hard all his life to pay for his wife's labor-saving gadgets.

This would be well after the old building now no more than a contract set up by the federal government when it granted the county most of the money with which to build the courthouse.

But Judge Noplis said this morning that a letter requesting a 30 day extension will be sent to the appropriate federal office, and that he is confident the time extension will be granted.

The extra time will work in favor of those offices of county government who will be forced to find new quarters once destruction of the present courthouse begins.

With the destruction of the Once new bids are called for and a contract finally signed, the question of the Johnson firm's liability to the county after it refused to sign the contract it was offered will still remain unsettled.

Judge Noplis said action on this question will be postponed for the time being so that work on the new courthouse can proceed swiftly.

The Johnson firm is bonded for five per cent of its bid, or $36,125, against any reneging on its legal obligations.

"Social Security Salutes Senior Citizens"

Approximately 150 couples attended a party in their honor at the Hazard Social Security District Office last Friday, May 8. The attendants came from all over the 8 county area served by the Hazard office, which includes Perry, Lee, Letcher, Breathitt, Owsley, Wolfe, Knott, and Leslie Counties. One factor they all had in common was that they were all receiving Social Security benefits and had been married 50 years or more.

This activity was a special project of the staff of the Social Security Office in acknowledging the Proclamation made by President Johnson, declaring May, 1964 as the Senior Citizens Month.

Mr. McDougal, acting manager of the Social Security Office welcomed the old-timers to the City.

Mr. Willie Dawahare was the featured speaker, and he praised the elderly couples for the contributions they had made to their communities during their lifetime. He stated that many sons and daughters of the aged couples had received a good education and moved to other parts of Kentucky and to other states to live as good citizens and leaders. He emphasized the importance of attracting industry into Eastern Kentucky so that young people in this area could remain and develop with the community.

Dawahare declared John Oliver Honorary Mayor of Hazard for the day and presented Keys to the City to the three couples who had been married the longest. Flowers were also presented to the couple with the largest number of children and to the one with the largest number of grandchildren. All the ladies who attended were presented with carnations and the men with cigars.

Another highlight of the afternoon was the colorful program of folk music played on the dulcimer by Jethro Amburgey of Hindman, Kentucky.

Reverend Leslie M. Rogers, Minister of Bowman Memorial Methodist Church, did an excellent job as Master of Ceremonies. He closed the program by having the couples join hands and sing together "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The program was concluded with serving of cake and punch by the office staff.

HILL TALK

Written by the Journalism
Class at H.H.S.

Christina Taulbee, H.H.S. senior, visited the Journalism Class last week to tell about her summer music scholarship at Union College, Union, which is located at Barbourville, Ky. She has plans for a summer Festival to be held at Gatlinburg, Tennessee, from June 27th until September 7th.

On April 26th, Chris was called to audition before Dr. Donald Jay Maxwell, director of the Festival, and head of the Music Department at Union.

She sang "Without a Song," and "Lead, Kindly Light," and was given a scholarship to sing in the chorus for the summer productions while studying voice, vocal literature, play production, and ensemble. She will receive ten semester hours of credit when she enters college at Union in the fall.

Starting on June 13, she will begin chorus rehearsals for three dramas: "Tosca," an opera by Puccini, "The Mikado," musical comedy by Gilbert and Sullivan, and "Oklahoma," modern folk opera by Rogers and Hammerstein. The plays will feature Metropolitan and Goldovsky opera stars Morely Meredith, Robert Nagy, and Francesca Roberto.

Chris, a soprano, has had little vocal training, but had started to study with Mrs. Miriam P. Dobyns, formerly of Hazard, when Mrs. Dobyns' illness made it necessary for her to close her studio. In last year's Regional Music Festival, however, Chris received a superior rating.

When members of the class asked how she felt about her opportunity, Chris explained, "I'm thrilled to death about it!"

At H.H.S. she is active in the Tuesday French Club, Masque and Gavel, and Mixed Chorus. Chris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Taulbee, Craig Street.

"Fun and Frolic" was the title of the program and it included readings, pantomimes, and part of a play. The first number was a modern version of "Little Red Riding Hood" read by Patti Campbell. This was followed by a pantomime by Larry Morgan—"Long Tall Texan." Donna Farries gave another reading, "My Financial Career." Next came "The Beatles," alias the "Hazard Centi-pedes," Curt Duff Jr., David Campbell, C. V. Cooper III, and Lynn Pennington. They pantomimed "Love Me Do" and "Twist and Shout." Billy Joe Napier then appeared as "Big Bad John," a character sketch of a coal miner. Pamela Maggard and Pat Noble then introduced "Side by Side" with very original costumes, resurrected from the city dump. A humorous reading by Lucy Carol Johnson was the closing number of the program. She gave a selection cut from "Father of the Bride," John Barron Cooner emceed the program.

Mrs. Evangeline Palmer, who directed, was presented with certificates of appreciation for herself and the group.

Don Ward, Band President, gave the Invocation preceding dinner and Dean Tayloe welcomed the group. Christina Taulbee sang "Saints' Train" and "Halls of Ivy."

Life Squadmen Remove Pebble From Nose of Danny Joe Deaton

Two-year-old Danny Joe Deaton, who has a reputation with his mother for "getting into everything", did it again recently.

Mrs. Madeline Deaton, of 335 W. Ninth Street, Newport, said Danny was playing in the yard with his sister, Barbara, 4, when she heard him say:

"Mommy, there's something the mother, who admits she ran into the house."

Sure enough, it was a pebble, about as big as a marble.

"He had to work hard to get it in there," said Mrs. Deaton, who is divorced.

Newport Life Squadmen George Stevens and William Turner had to work hard, too, about 30 minutes, with tweezers, to get it out.

But it was nothing new for kerton.

Old Combs Post Office Burns Monday; Hazard Fire Chief Speaks At Meeting

By H. C. Robertson
There was a supper at the Combs Elementary School Monday at 6:30 p.m. The speaker for the occasion was Supt. Dennis Wooton. The funds raised will be used to purchase much needed instructional material for the school.

A successful week's revival closed at the Combs Baptist Church Sunday night. The closing message was given by the pastor, Rev. Luther Deaton, because the evangelist was called to Knoxville, Tenn., due to a death in his family. The evangelist was Rev. W. E. George of Hyden. There was a large audience present and a baptizing service at the close of the service, with four persons being baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sizemore of Lothair visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoskins of Combs Sunday.

Kasper Smith of Newport,

Ky., visited in Combs recently.

The old Combs Post Office building at Combs burned to the ground at about 2:30 Monday night. Since the building was not occupied and contained no electrical wiring, it was evidently set on fire either neglectfully or purposefully.

Ike Overbee died at the Hazard Appalachian Hospital Monday night. He had been ill for some time and had been suffering from asthma. The funeral was held at the Combs Church of God.

There was a meeting at the Combs Methodist Church Tuesday evening of several residents of Combs to consider the purchasing of fire fighting equipment. The speaker was Hazard's Fire Chief, Lawrence Sizemore.
